Climate Strategy Consulting

A climate strategy developed with myclimate lets you identify risks and opportunities for your business model, consolidate them into climate targets, and develop measures for avoiding and reducing greenhouse gas emissions.

Define your climate strategy with us today.

Four Steps to your Climate Strategy

1. Status analysis

2. Climate vision

4. Progress monitoring

3. Rollout

The circular approach of the myclimate climate strategy combines individually tailored processes with optimisation.

Recording of your carbon footprint, existing plans, challenges, conflicting goals and expectations.

Setting of climate target and action areas.

Implementation of reduction measures, stakeholder management and management control.

Monitoring of KPIs, reporting and carbon management.

This approach lets you:

- meet the latest regulatory requirements (e.g. CSRD reporting obligations).
- facilitate long-term company planning.
- optimise company processes, production and resources.
- use internationally recognised, scientifically sound target-setting guidelines, such as the Science Based Targets initiative (SBTi), to help drive the decarbonisation of the global economy.
- make the most of your potential competitive advantage.

Climate Strategy made easy: Start with our Initial Workshop

A climate strategy that incorporates your wishes, external requirements and all framework conditions can soon become confusing. Our initial workshop will provide you with the insight you need to get started on your strategy.

Aims of the workshop:

- mapping the background situation
- collecting the wishes and expectations you have of the climate strategy
- incorporating regulatory framework conditions
- discussing the modular structure of the myclimate climate strategy
- developing a customised roadmap of your climate strategy
- presenting sample budgets and resources for your long-term planning security

A climate strategy is based on the willingness to take responsibility, as a business, for the problem of anthropogenic climate change.

Arrange an appointment now to get an overview and get started on a customised climate strategy for your company!
